The Sand House

Experience an astonishing, local story - in a theatre show for the whole family

The fascinating story behind Doncaster's legendary underground carvings comes to life in a new play by award-winning writer Peter Spafford.

Henry Senior, an eccentric Victorian businessman, carves a mansion from sand, then digs a network of tunnels underground, decorated with awe-inspiring statues. Why did he do it? And how did the Sand House come to be buried deep beneath the streets of Doncaster?

It's WW2, and two teenagers stumble into the catacombs to find out. Their lives are changed forever.
